United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change

1 The United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) is an international environmental treaty that was signed in 1992 in New York City. It is the first global agreement that addresses climate change. The UNFCCC is the basis for the Paris Agreement, which was signed in 2015. The Paris Agreement is a legally binding international treaty on climate change that was adopted in Paris, France, on 12 December 2015. It is the first time that a global agreement has been reached to limit global warming to below 2°C above pre-industrial levels, with a goal to limit it to 1.5°C. The Paris Agreement is a landmark agreement that marks a turning point in the global effort to address climate change.
